This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. 1770. A moſt ſhocking ſcene was exhibited in Broad-court, Longacre, London. A woman who ſold oyſters there, had a room always faſtened by a padlock, and which none of the neighbours ever ſaw opened. They knew ſhe had children and imagined ſhe concealed them there as they never were were ſeen, and for a long time they were deterred from enquiring, for fear of ill treatment from this termagant; but a number of them aſſembled, broke open the door, and diſcovered the moſt ſhocking ſpectacle they ever beheld, and which before war never perpetrated by the moſt unnatural mother. Three infants, the eldeſt about ſix years old, naked as they were born, emaciated to ſkeletons, ſtood frightened at their approach; their colour for want of food, and common neceſſaries, was that of a mulatto; their hair matted together, and ſtanding up to their ancles in ordure, &c. which produced ſuch an uncommon ſtench, that they all declared the moſt offenſive ſmell they had ever before known was even grateful to this; and that if this happy diſcovery had not then been made, the poor babes could not have exiſted many days longer. They were immediately ſent to the Workhouſe and properly taken care of, and the moſt inhuman parent to Bridewell.

At Turvey in the County of Dublin, a moſt inhuman murder was committed on Darby Sherwin, his wife, ſon, and grandſon. Joſeph Daw, who was ſoon after hanged and quartered on the hill of Turvey for theſe murders, confeſſed he was the only perſon concerned in them.

New Stile.

IN Ireland, the New Stile for the year began the day after 31 Dec. 1751, which was then called (not 1 Jan. 1751, as was formerly done, but) 1 Jan. 1752.

And for the Days, the day after 2 Sept. 1752, which was then called (not 3 Sept. 1752, but) 14 Sept. 1752.

Intereſt.

INTEREST of money was reduced to 8 per cent. from 25 March 1704.

To 7, from 25 March, 1722.

And to 6, from 1 May, 1732.

In computing Intereſt of money, or other payments which became due in England or Ireland, on any day between 31 Dec. 1751, and 25 March, 1752, excluſive of theſe two days: it is to be remembered, that the year 1751, by the alteration of the ſtile or by authority of parliament, had no month of January, no month of February, and therefore no Hilary term, nor had it the firſt 24 days of March. For that year ended on 31 Dec.

Dec. and not (as former years did end) on 24 March. ſo there was only one year between 1 Jan. 1750, and 1 Jan. 1752; or between 2 Jan. 1750, and 2 Jan. 1752; and ſo on, every day, 'till laſt of all, there was only one year between 24 March, 1750, and 24 March, 1752. But in Scotland their year always began January.

Obſerve alſo that Sept. in 1752, had none of the following days, in England, Scotland, or Ireland, viz. Sept. 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, or 13.

Of Annuities on Lives.

By Sir ISAAC NEWTON.

THE way of purchaſing by lives was commonly to reckon one life as a leaſe of 7 years, two lives as a leaſe of 14 years, and three lives as a leaſe of 21 years: but this way ſeeming unequal, there is another way which is more agreeable to reaſon, and it is this: viz. for every life to decreaſe one year, as if one life be reckoned as a leaſe for 10 years, then two will be as a leaſe of 19, and three as a leaſe of 27 years, &c. ſo that at 7l. per cent. one life is reckoned worth a little above 7 years purchaſe, two lives 10 years, 1 quarter, and 1 month's purchaſe, &c. as the table for purchaſing of lives, page 247 ſheweth.

So if you reckon one life as a leaſe of 9 years, then two will be as a leaſe of 17, three as a leaſe of 24, &c. as is evident by the table; and one life will be worth above 6 years and two quarters purchaſe; two lives 9 years and three quarters purchaſe; three lives 11 years, 1 quarter, 2 months and 6 decimal parts, purchaſe, &c.

So if one single life be reckoned as a lease of [illegible] years, then two will be a lease of 23, three as a lease of [illegible] years, &c. so that at [illegible] per cent. one life is worth above 8 years and a quarter's purchase, two lives above [illegible] years and a quarter's purchase, &c. as the table page [illegible] shews.

Now suppose any of those persons which have their lives upon an estate should die, to make it others to make up the number again, is done as follows: Suppose there be three lives upon an estate, which at seven years purchase for the first life, are valued at almost 12 years purchase, and as a lease of [illegible] years, at [illegible] per cent. and if one of those persons should die, what must be given to make up the number again? Then I say one life which is dead was a lease of 10 years, and therefore to take in a new life, I may reckon 10 years of the [illegible] lapsed, and so take as it were a fine for renewing 10 years lapsed in a lease of [illegible] years: now to find this fine, I take the sum of the reversions for 10 years in the table under [illegible] per cent. counting 27 as 1, 26 as 2, 25 as 3, &c. and so I find the sum to be 2l. 4s. 4d. 2q. that is 2 years and almost a quarter's purchase, which I may [illegible] renewing or taking in a new life; so ſo if two lives be dead, I may reckon 19 years lapſed in a leaſe of 27 years, and find the ſum of the reverſions for 19 years, for a fine for taking in two lives: but if there be four lives upon the eſtate then at 7l. per cent. and at ten years for one life, they will be reckoned as a leaſe for 34 years, and ſo I muſt begin at 34 to ſum the reverſions, or at 30 if one life be reckoned as a leaſe of 9 years; and then if one life be dead, I muſt reckon 9 years lapſed in a leaſe of 30 years; if 2 lives are dead I muſt reckon 17 years lapſed in the ſame leaſe, and if three are dead I muſt reckon 24 lapſed: So at 6l. per cent. reckoning 1 life as a leaſe of 12 years, 3 lives as a leaſe of 33 years, and ſo if one of thoſe lives be dead, I may reckon 12 years lapſed in a leaſe of 33 years, and if 2 lives are dead, I may reckon 23 years lapſed in the ſame leaſe, and begin at 33 to ſum the reverſions under, 6l. per cent. becauſe the lives are valued according to the ſame rate of intereſt. This being underſtood, it will not be difficult to do the like for any other number of lives, and at other rates of intereſt, and number of year for one life; for you may by the table of purchaſing leaſes, &c. make tables for purchaſing of lives, according to what rate of intereſt you think is moſt convenient; as ſuppoſe you reckon one life as a leaſe of ten years, and you would have 5l. per cent. profit, then that will be worth 7 years and almoſt 3 quarters purchaſe, but at 8l. per cent. it is worth but ſix years and almoſt three quarter's purchaſe, &c.

Of Annuities on Lives.

THE learned Dr. Halley, in number 169 of the Philoſophical Tranſactions, publiſhed a table of the values of annuities upon ſingle lives, computed for an intereſt of 6l. per cent. for money; but as ſince that time intereſt is reduced to 4l. per cent. in our government ſecurities, the following table is computed for that rate of intereſt.

Age	Purchaſe Yrs. Pt.	Age	Purchaſe Yrs. Pts.	Age	Purchaſe Yrs. Pts.
1	1189	25	14,80	50	19,45
5	16 65	30	13,96	55	9 55
6	16,72	35	13 08	60	8,40
8	16 53	40	12,29	65	7,12
10	15622	45	11,39	70	5,70

By this table it appears, that an annuity for the life of a perſon of 25 years of age, is eſtimated at 1480-100th years purchaſe; i. e.

i. e. one pound per annum, is reckoned worth 14l 16s. Ten pounds per annum, is worth 148l. And one hundred pounds is reckoned worth 1480l. &c.

But it ought to be obſerved, that according to our weekly bills, very near half the perſons that are born in London die under five years of age: and the hazards of perſons between 15 and 25 are ſo many, that an annuity may in fact be purchaſed cheaper upon a life under 25, than upon the life of a perſon of 30 or 40 years of age: and therefore I reckon 14 or 14 1-half years purchaſe to be the full market price for the beſt life.

THE PRACTICAL GRAMMAR; or, An eaſy way to underſtand Engliſh, in which the Rules are laid down in a Manner entirely New; and the whole rendered ſo eaſy, familiar and entertaining, that a child of only eight years of age may be perfectly initiated into a knowledge of the Engliſh Tongue, with the greateſt expedition and pleaſure. To which is added, A Poetical Epitome of Grammar, for the help of Memory, with a Supplement, Containing examples of bad Engliſh to be turned into good, with the good oppoſite, in order to illuſtrate every rule of Syntax, or the compoſition of Sentences; and, A Short Engliſh Grammar, upon the plan of the Latin, for the uſe of ſuch as are deſigned for the ſtudy of that Language. Throughout the whole, whatever is new is delivered in an eaſy, agreeable Manner, and what was before known, is placed in a light quite new and amuſing, by THOMAS SMETHAM, Maſter of the Academy at Southgate, and late Maſter of the Boarding-School at Ponder's End.
